Description:

Avengers end game is about all the super heroes coming together to destroy Thanos and his army. Thanos destroyed the infinity stones and killed millions. In order for the avengers to save peoples lives they have to get all the infinity stones and they have to put the stones where they belong on the infinity gauntlet. They go back in time using a time machine and they get all the stones from the places where they originally came from. They used quantum physics to get all the infinity stones in order to save peoples lives. Getting the stones is a tough challenge but in order for the people and all the superheroes to come back, they have to get these stones. Hopefully the Avengers can save these people and superheroes!

Favorite or Least Favorite Part:

My favorite part of the movie is when Captain America picks up Thor's hammer and fight Thanos with it. It was just so cool seeing this because it showed everyone that watched the movie that Captain America has more than one power. Thor and Captain America in my opinion are a great duo because they can both use their weapons together in a unique way and they can use each others weapons to fight other criminals.
